Barrack Presents Third by Wendy Wasserstein Drama Grapples with Themes of Ethics, Stereotypes, Feminism

Bryn Mawr, PA (January 20, 2009 :) Barrack Hebrew Academy's Upper School students will present Third, an award-winning drama by Wendy Wasserstein, Sunday through Wednesday, February 8-11, in the school's auditorium, 272 S. Bryn Mawr Avenue.

Directed by senior Georgia Robbins- Gerike, the play is set on the campus of a prestigious New England liberal arts college and focuses on the tug of war between a noted English professor who accuses one of her students, a member of the school's wrestling team, of plagiarism. Serious, witty and wise, the drama brings to life a number of thought-provoking themes, including those of ethics, stereotypes, family dynamics and feminism.

Cast members include Emily Alloy as Emily Jamison; Leah Apple as Professor Laurie Jamison; Joseph Chriqui as Woodson Bull III; Dina Rendsberg as Professor Nancy Gordon; and Zachary Taylor as Jack Jamison. Daniel Weinblatt is the play's assistant director.

Tickets are $12 for adults and $10 for Barrack Hebrew Academy faculty and students. Tickets are available by emailing SHOWTIX@jbha.org.
